AS TO DREAMS.

Bishop Moore's Entertaining Lecture at German M. E. Church.

ACTIVITY OF MIND IN SLEEP

Was a Question on Which the Disfinguished Divine Did Not Go On Record-Several Amusing Illustrations of the Phenomena of Sleep Given-Large Audience Greeted the M. E. Church's New Bishop.

Bishop David H. Moore, one of the two recently elected bishops of the M. E. church, delivered a unique and highly entertaining lecture last night at the German M. E. church, on South Chapline street, to a large audience, considering that the affair was arranged for by the pastor, Rev. Louis Allinger, or a few hours' notice. Bishop Moore dedicated the M. E. church at Benwood on Sunday, and he kindly consented to make an address at the instance of his old friend, the Rev. Mr. Allinger. Nearly all the pasters of the local M. E. churches were present. Bishop Moore spoke on "The Mysteries of Sleep." Bishop Moore was presented by Rev.

Mr. Allinger in a neat introductory speech. He spoke of the assistance rendered him and his struggling German congregation in Columbus several years ago, by Dr. Moore and his congregation. The speaker referred to Bishop Moore's appointed to a Chinese station and predicted that he would make of it a glow ing success. Rev. Mr. Allinger's remarks were very appropriate.

In his preface, Bishop Moore alluded to his acquaintance with German Meth-odists, whom he paid a high compli-ment. Twenty of his forty years in the ministry were spent in Cincinnut, coming in close touch with the German Methodists. The German contingent of the Methodist church was the best type, and in numerical proportion did mor efficient work than other portions of the great Methodist body.

A beautiful burst of language was Bishop Moore's opening when he turned to his lecture, "The Mysteries of Sleep. He connected in a class as having similar characteristics, night, sleep and death. Behind night and sleep were cl-ways the promise of the morning, and happily, back of death, was the promisof a morning in the great beyond

In a humorous vein, Bishop Moore re-lated several incidents of sleeping church brothers who had a habit of disturbing the pastor and the serenity of the services, by sonorous anoting or waking up with a sudden and demon strative start at an awkward period in aforesald services.

Discussing whether a sleeping parso quired a greater amount of exygen, he told an amusing story of a man, who supposing the was smothering in his had room for lack of ventilation, got out had room for lack of ventilation, got out of bed and being unable to raise the windows, simished his boot through what he supposed was the window glass, after which he returned to his bed and slept like a trooper, but to his horror, he discovered in the morning that he had whirled his boot through a book-case, while the windows were unopened and undisturbed.

The time of sleep required for a per son, said the bishop depends on that person's temperament. A young perso, needed more sleep than an old person Speaking of alarm clocks, the speaker used them aptly to illustrate the warn Ings of conscience. As to the phenom-ena of sleep, Bishop Moore told of the theories advanced whether the mind active while its possessor was ep. Some said not, in support of which they instanced dreams, and Ben-jamin Franklin thought out many of his discoveries in dreams. To dreams was ascribed the credit of the invention of the shot-tower. The most interesting part of "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde," was wrought out in sleep. Bishop Moore read a poem written by Coleridge, who had dreamed the poem first and then wrote it, but being interrupted in his writing only part of the dream could be

Bishop Moore said that he was not was active during sleep, nor did he care about it. He thought the day would come when there would be revolutions the science of psychology which would make things natural that now appear supernatural. He believed that dreams were prophetic and he related many interesting dreams. Natural causes explained some dreams which were considered supernatural by many people. A drawn up position in bed, causing the muscles to relax, accounted for most of the "falling off a roof" The bishop was very entertaining throughout. He left on the midnight train for Baltimore, where he will deliver an address this evening.

The Republicans of the First West Virginia congressional district, held their nominating convention at Weston on Wednesday, June 6th, when Hor Blackburn B. Dovener, of Ohio county, was again named as their candidate for Congress. Captain Dovener has been honored five times by the Republicans of his district with the congressional nomination and has been elected three times and everything indicates at writing that he will be elected next No-vember for the fourth time by a larger majority than ever before, says th West Alexander, Pa., Call.

Captain Dovener is one of our mos industrious members of Congress and from what we know of him we believe him to be a man of sterling qualitiand the soul of honor, true and trustworthy in every position he is called upon to fill. Few members of Congress have the confidence of their associates equal to Captain Dovener and not many a greater influence. He stands well with the departments at the national

of the departments is worth a good deal

JUNK DEALER INVOLVED

According to the Partial Confession of the Culprits, Who Were Arrested While Trying to Escape Through the Terminal Tunnel. They Are William and Jack Clarke. In the Justice Shops.

One of the most daring robberles ever perpetrated in the city of Wheeling took place yesterday afternoon in the dismantled galvanizing department of the Whitaker Iron Company. As a result of which a considerable amount of brass and other metals were conveyed and disposed of at the Barrett junk shop in broad day light.

noticed the peculiar actions of two young men, William Clarke and "Jack" Clarke, both of the South Side, yester-day afternoon, but paid little attention to it. The Clarkes were seen carrying heavy metal down the Terminal track, passing the office of the company, after which they returned. They were closely watched and upon entering the abandoned galvanizing department were pursued and caught in the act of removing brass and other metals from the machinery. Chief of Police William Clemans was notified by telephone, while officials of the company endeavored to capture the alleged criminals.

The patrol wagon was pressed into service and served its purpose well, as Chief Clemans, who had since received information that the young culprits had entered Chapline hill tunnel in order to make their escape, leaving a considerable amount of their plunder lying on the Terminal tracks. Chief Clemans, with the assistance of that little Napoleon, Lieutenant George Devinney, rounded up the two young men at their ome on the South Side and brought them to the city lock-up.

Upon being questioned they partially confessed and implicated junk dealer Barrett, of Twenty-first street, stating that he had loaned them a wrench for the purpose of removing the lock to effect an entrance to the mill.

Squire Greer committed them to jail for a hearing at a time not yet set. The warrant could not be drawn up last night, owing to the inability of the authorities to fix the amount of the stolen metal; however, from present indications more than $20 worth of metal has been stolen, which means a felony charge. A second charge of breaking the lock with intent to burgiarize, may Corinne Jones, an Inmate of Ada Foster's house of ill fame, on the South Side, swore out a warrant against William "Peggy" Truax, on a charge of stealing $2 from her at the above resort. Truax was arrested by Officer resort. Truax was arrested by Omeer Pritchard, and taken before Squire Rogers, who fined him $10 and costs. In default of payment he will languish thirty days in fall. Society.

The largest and most elaborate socie ty affair given for some time was the dancing party given at the Wheeling Park Casino last night. It was a house party on a large scale and the honors were done by Mr. and Mrs. B. Walker Peterson, Mr. and Mrs. Hullihen Quar-rier, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Holloway, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Howard Simpson. The guest list numbered about 400 and theassemblage was representative of the culture and fashion of the community.

The Casino was never so beautiful in appearance before. Flowers and foliage of many hues transformed the spacious ball room into a mammoth conserva-tory, while an additional artistic effect was given by the many electric lights. Animation and tolor ware added by the vari-colored costumes in the mages o the dance, and the spectacle at all times was most pleasing to the eye. A dance programme of eighteen numbers was carried out to the music of Meister's full orchestra. A novel feature introduced was the Virginia reel, danced by members of the younger set. Several figures of the cotillion were also given, and the cake walk was another attraction that proved a delight. After a close contest, the winners in the latter event were de-cided to be Mr. Auron Hughes and Mrs. Ferrel, of Richmond, Va. Mrs. Ferrel is at present the guest of her parents, Colonel and Mrs. Robert White.

The coolness of the evening air some-what handicapped the enjoyment of tete-a-tetes on the Casino balcony and the park proper. Throughout the affair, Ziegenfelder dispensed delectable re-freshments. Special motors conveyed the guests home from the park.
